

University of Arizona, College of Social and Behavioral Sciences

Division for Late Medieval and Reformation Studies

2020 Summer Lecture Series

The Early Modern Atlantic World

In cooperation with St. Philip's in the Hills Episcopal Church

Between the fifteenth and the eighteenth centuries, economic, cultural, and social exchanges between continents resulted in sometimes radical, sometimes subtle, and often protracted transformations of the early modern Atlantic World. The 2020 summer lectures will explore the effects of "Atlanticization" on the territories of the Iberian Empires in the Americas and on social and cultural categories such as religion, race, ethnicity, and shared space.

Welcome and introduction of speakers: Professor Ute Lotz-Heumann, Director, DLMRS

Thematic introduction: Professor David Graizbord, Associate Director, Arizona Center for Judaic Studies

Free and open to the public

The 2020 summer lectures will be offered virtually on Zoom. Please register for each lecture separately by clicking on the links below. You will automatically receive the Zoom information for the lecture when you register.

Sunday, August 16, 11:30 am

Race, Religion, and Identity: Black Confraternities in the Iberian Atlantic World

Dean Messinger, master's student

Register for this lecture here!

Sunday, August 23, 11:30 am

Urban Colonialism: Design and Control of Public Space in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries

Christine Liou, doctoral student

Register for this lecture here!

Sunday, August 30, 11:30 am

Calvinists, Catholics, and Indigenous in Brazil, 1556-1558

Kaitlyn Centini, master's student

Register for this lecture here!

For information:

Cathleen Gearin,
gearin@arizona.edu

COLLEGE OF SOCIAL & BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES

Division for Late Medieval & Reformation Studies